Student Life

-A Time to Laugh-

FALL FRENZY

Fall Frenzy is Susquehanna's way of saying "Welcome Back", in a big way, to its students. This year, students took advantage of the sunny day and ventured out onto the Degenstein lawn to enjoy a barbeque and games. Any day spent among friends is sure to create fond memories for years to come.

FAMILY WEEKEND

Family Weekend is a special time on campus for Susquehanna University students. Phone calls, packages or letters cannot compare to having your parents and siblings around you. Students get the opportunity to show off their dorm rooms or apartments, give a campus tour and introduce their new friends.

Homecoming

Homecoming weekend took place September 19th & 20th during Selinsgrove's Susquicentennial celebration. Together the town and the university celebrated with a parade through town and the making of a banana split on Pine Street. Some of the weekend highlights included the football team beating Moravian 26-14 and Zachary Palamara and Liz Palmer being crowned homecoming king and queen.

The giant banana split made on Pine Street was nothing compared to the world record setting 4.55 mile banana split made in Selinsgrove in 1988, but it sure was a treat.

STUDY ABROAD

Susquehanna University encourages its students to study abroad. There are a wide range of programs that take place in countries across the globe. Studying in another country proves to be one of the greatest life experiences available to students.

Students gain new perspectives, great memories and lots of friends from their time abroad. It's fun to see the world through someone else's eyes.

EEEEEN!!!

THANKSGIVING DINNER

Mmm good. Thanksgiving dinner has become one of Susquehanna's greatest traditions. It is a time when faculty and students can enjoy one another's company outside of the classroom. Both faculty and students find this to be a rewarding and enjoyable experience, and they look forward to it every year.

CHRISTMAS CANDLELIGHT

Winter nights in Selinsgrove are normally cold, but during the annual Candlelight Service held in Weber Chapel, the atmosphere is unseasonably warm. Downtown the streets are alive with lights as late-night shoppers enjoy low prices, cups of hot cider, fresh evergreens, and glowing candle lanterns.

SPRING WEEKEND

Spring Weekend 2004 offers a variety of activities and sporting events. Students can enjoy watching games such as rugby or baseball, sit and listen to a band the Poptart Monkey's play on the field, watch the big screen movie offered on Smith lawn, or simply enjoy time.

The all time American classic

"Animal House" entertained the students with barrels of laughter Friday night. However Saturday is when all the fun really started. Giant blow up games such as sumo wrestling, obstacle courses, human bowling and even a mechanical bull were set up for the entire afternoon. It was truly a spring weekend to remember.

Theater Arts

"A Time to Perform"

Susquehanna University Theater

Celebrating 135 Years of Performance!

Susquehanna University's exciting and esteemed theater program is celebrating its 135th year anniversary.

It has been said that Susquehanna's theater program can rival any big-time college. That is partly due to Weber Chapel's magnificent stage, but it mostly has to do with the dedicated students and faculty that put so much time and effort into it.

Recent productions include Chicago, Guys and Dolls, West Side Story, Crazy for You and Chorus Line.

However, after 135 years of performance, this is only the tip of the ice-berg. No doubt, there will be many more to come.

Fall Musical

ON THE TOWN

The Department of Communications and Theatre Arts and the Department of Music presented their annual fall musical, On the Town, from October 24 to 26.

The story takes place during World War II in New York City. In this Leonard Bernstein play, three sailors from the Brooklyn Navy Yard are given a 24-hour shore leave.

This comedy about lust and love begins when Gabey, the innocent and excitable sailor, falls in love with a subway poster of Miss Turnstiles. For the rest of the night, his mission is to find her. His sailor pals, Chip and Ozzie, come along for the ride.

As the story unfolds, Chip and Ozzie become involved with women of their own. To his own chagrin, Chip is picked up by sex-starved cabbie Hildy Esterhazy. Mean while, a madcap anthropologist, Claire DeLoone, attempts to secure Ozzie for the night.

The play was directed by Professor Larry Augustine. Other stars included seniors Chris Chrisostomou, Steve Davis, Aaron White, Corinne May and Matt Cornish.

Spring Production

THE WINTER'S TALE

Susquehanna's Theatre Arts Department continued its years of excellence with this year's spring production. The department presented William Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale."

The play was staged in Degenstein Campus Theater and lasted from April 22 to the 24. It was directed by Assistant Professor of Theatre Arts, W. Douglas Powers.

"The Winter's Tale" is based on Robert Greene's 14th century play "Pandosto." It is a romantic comedy with shades of tragedy.

The tale begins with Leontes, the king of Sicilia, who believes that his wife, Hermione, has committed adultery. Leontes accuses his old friend Polixenes, the king of Bohemia: murder plots, banishment and death all follow.

The lead role of Leontes was played by senior Matt Cornish.

One-Act Play

Student one-act plays give students a chance to display their talent in a different form of theatrics. The student directed One-Act Play Festival took place February 19 to 22 in Degenstein Theatre.

The One-Act Play is one of the most interesting productions preformed in Degenstein Theatre.

Each play is run by students, with guidance from assistant professor of theatre arts and sceneiographer, Andy

Rich; assistant professor of theatre and technical director, Erik Viker; and assistant professor of theatre arts, Doug Powers.

This year, at the suggestion of Professor Powers, each play was written by famed playwright Tennessee Williams. The plays were "The Gnadiges Fraulein," directed by Brett Johnson, "Hello from Bertha," directed by Alex Faulhaber, and "I Can't Imagine Tomorrow," directed by Corinne May.

“The Gnadiges Fraulein,” is in the genre of Theater of the Absurd. In a dilapidated boarding house, the owner and a gossip columnist meet a Vietnamese vaudevillian.

“Hello from Bertha,” is about a distressed, schizophrenic prostitute. The play shows her dealing with her sickness and holding on to memories of past loves.

“I Can’t Imagine,” is about two lovers. The woman is very sick, and the man can’t live without her. An emotional cross-section of their lives is presented as they try and change their relationship.

Lanthorn

“These Are The Times We Hold Onto”

Memories live in our minds and our hearts, to be sure. But in a more practical sense, they also live in the pages of our college yearbooks. With that in mind, the 2004 Lanthorn staff has sought to produce here a yearbook that will be a cherished keepsake for its owners.

Unlike previous editions, the 2004 Lanthorn features a three-dimensional, striking black cover - in hopes that the eye-catching design will prompt students to pull the book from its shelf years from now to relive fond memories. After all, as the cover says, our college years are indeed “times to hold on to.” Yet despite the new-look cover design and a few other new surprises in its pages, the 2004 Lanthorn also delivers the usual content demanded by its readers. It highlights the major events of the academic year, from freshman convocation to senior commencement, with particular attention given to the rich meaningfulness of academic inquiry as well as the fun of athletics and campus life.

Editor-in-Chief Robin Clarke and Assistant Editor Leah Smith have used their backgrounds in communications to develop the book’s design and organize its contents. Under their leadership, several other students have contributed their unique talents to the book. Among them were several members of the Class of ‘04, including: Jodie Dagle, Joe Guistina, Raina McConnell, Jason Ruda, Saveth Vann, and Liz Westin. Other staff members included Andrea Carlson, Sarah Hunkins, Joanna Martino, Stephanie Hines, Heather Litzbauer, Doug Jacobs, Sarah Marsala, Megan McGee, Andrea Paciotti, Andrew Sheaf, and Jamie Walther. Their work is preserved in these pages for all to enjoy.

Football

In the 105 years of Crusader football, no one had quite the impact of senior Mark Bartosic.

During his final year, Bartosic set a myriad of records, passing 1,000 receiving yards for the fourth time in his career when he made a leaping grab of a 35-yard pass against Albright, becoming the first player in NCAA history to ever accomplish that feat. He set school records in catches (78) and receiving yards (1,313) breaking his own records. He also set Middle Atlantic Conference records for career touchdowns (55), receiving yards (4,733) and receptions (275).

Meanwhile, the Crusader offense averaged 25.3 points per game, as senior quarterback Craig Ulrich completed 165-of-337 passes for 2,426 yards and 18 touchdowns. Junior Josh Kleha caught 34 passes 476 yards to compliment Bartosic.

The running game also excelled, as junior Chris Ross set a school-record, scampering for 227 yards against Juniata, finishing the year with 675 yards while junior fullback Jason Eck ran for 531 yards and freshman Anthony Edwards ran for 312.

The defense struggled, however, allowing 33.3 points per game, accounting for the team's 4-6 overall record. Senior Adam Summers was named to First Team All-MAC as he recorded 5.5 sacks and 36 tackles on the year. Junior Larry Cannon led the squad with 88 tackles.

CHEERLEADING 2003

Soccer

The wait is over. After 45 years and more than a thousand games, the men's soccer team has finally played a postseason game.

The 2003 edition of the Crusaders started off slowly, holding a 3-5-1 record before Commonwealth Conference play began in early October. The Crusaders fought to a 3-3 league mark entering a Nov. 1 matchup with Widner. If the Crusaders won, they made the playoffs. If they lost, their season ended just as the previous 44 seasons had.

Senior Brandon Emery scored the first goal in the fateful game and freshman Nate Snyder, the Commonwealth Conference Co-Rookie of the year, added the next two as Susquehanna routed the Pioneers, 4-0.

"It's great for the guys currently in the program," head coach Jim Findlay, who was named the Commonwealth Coach of the Year, said.

"Just to get the string of bad luck out of the way and to see the guys faces during and after the game, that's what we want to see as coaches. It's unbelievable.

Emery was a Second Team All-Conference selection, scoring five times and adding four assists for 14 points. Snyder led the team with 19 points on the strength of seven goals and five assists.

Senior Dennis Hogan was named to the First Team as a midfielder, as he finished sixth in the league with seven assists. Junior Chris Collier notched 16 points, having scored six goals and adding four assists.

In goal, senior Ryan Murray allowed 1.16 goals per game while starting 10 contests and freshman Austin Kelsey allowed two goals per game while starting the final eight games.

Jess Paulshock smashed quite a few records during the 2003 season. The junior midfielder set school marks for goals (15), points (34), and hat tricks (3) in a season after a position change moved her from forward to midfield at the beginning of the year. She earned Commonwealth Conference First Team All-Star Honors in the process, as she led the conference in goals and scoring.

Her teammates on the women's soccer team followed in a similar mold, racking up four or more goals in six games and scoring eight goals three times and setting school records with 52 goals, 31 assists, and 135 points.

Junior forward Lindsay Nevins scored nine times and added four assists for 22 points on her way to a First Team All-Commonwealth selection. Sophomore forward Erin Trumbower, sidelined six games with an arm injury, managed six goals and four assists. Sophomore midfielder Trish Noel contributed five goals and sophomore midfielder Alecia Gold tallied five goals and three assists. Freshman Jenna Raffetto earned the Commonwealth Conference Rookie of the Year honors, tallying three goals and three assists while starting 13 games.

The defensive core also helped carry the Crusaders to an 11-8 record and a 3-4, fourth-place finish in the conference for their second straight playoff berth. Senior co-captain Lauren Haner and junior Kate McMaster were both named to the league's Second Team for their efforts on the backfield.

Senior goalkeeper Melissa Karschner finished her career as a starter with school records in wins (36), saves (477), and shutouts (14.5).

After struggling to field a team for much of 2002, the 2003 women's cross country team jumped back into the picture with a seventh place finish at the 13-team Middle Atlantic Conference championships and a 16th place finish at the 38 team NCAA Mideast Regionals.

Sophomore Megan Johnson led the team at MACs as she finished in 26:53 for a 25th place finish. She was followed by Heather Matta, who took 32nd with a time of 27:06.31 and senior Jordan Bolduc took 36th with a time of 27:21.30.

At regionals, Matta earned slot on the regional All-Freshman Second Team, finishing 69th with a time of 25:10. Freshman Emilie Confer finished 75th with time of 25:22.

The Crusaders had three runners in the top-10 at the Juniata Invitational on Oct. 25, as they finished second in a six-team, 5,000 meter meet. Bolduc led the way with a sixth place finish of 21:14. Matta took seventh with a time of 21:15 and Confer finished 10th in 21:21.

Senior Ryan Gleason finished 19th overall at the NCAA Division III championships with a time of 25:36.9. Gleason is a four-time first-team All-Middle Atlantic Conference honoree and earned All-American honors for his performance in his final season at Susquehanna.

Gleason finished second at the NCAA Mideast Regionals with a time of 25:55. His teammates sophomore Jadrien Diebler finished 36th with a time of 27:27, freshman Kyle Snyder took 53rd with a time of 27:57 and Senior Ryan McGuire finished 56th with a time of 27:59. Junior middle blocker Kerri Eshelman became the second player in school history to cross 1,000 kills in her career, when she recorded 16 on Oct. 8 in a 3-0 win against Elizabethtown.

Two matches later, Eshelman broke the school record for career kills, as she recorded 14 against Lycoming on Oct. 16 to bring her career total to 1,046.

During the Marymount Invitational on Oct. 18, Eshelman recorded 71 kills on the way to becoming the tournament's Most Valuable Player. For her efforts during the week, she became the first ever Susquehanna player to be named the American Volleyball Coaches Association Player of the Week.

Eshelman's First Team All-Conference efforts helped lead the Crusaders to the playoffs with a 15-13 overall record and a 4-3 mark in the Commonwealth Conference, good for fourth place.

Sophomore Cheryl Smith stepped in as a setter, wrapping up 632 assists while freshman Missy Kadingo added 342. Junior Sara Weaver led the team with 267 digs and Smith also had 208.

Eshelman led the team with 142 blocks and junior Marrissa Gaulton added 67 blocks and 212 kills to the cause.

The team was coached by John Tom, who was the Crusaders third coach in three years, but Tom still was able to lead the team to the playoffs for the third time in four years, where it lost to Juniata 3-1 in the Commonwealth semifinals.

For the second year in a row, senior Tara McHugh advanced to the Middle Atlantic Conference singles championship. However, this year McHugh fell in three sets to Deanna Ng of Messiah, 2-6, 6-3, 2-6, ending her bid to become the fifth player to win back-to-back singles championships since 1983.

Still, McHugh capped off her career with a 9-3 senior season at No. 1 singles despite injuries limiting her to eight regular-season matches. She holds the Susquehanna career record for wins with 4, as she eclipsed 10 wins in all but her final season.

The rest of the Crusaders followed McHugh's lead for the third year in a row, as the team finished 6-3 overall, just missing the Commonwealth Conference playoffs with a 4-3 record. The team is 2-4-8 in the last three seasons.

Sophomore Danielle Dormer complimented McHugh to the tune of an 11-1 season at No. 2 singles. Dormer's lone loss came after winning two matches at the MAC singles meet, earning First Team All-Commonwealth honors in the process.

Junior Sarah Lampe finished 6-2 at the No. 3 singles position to earn a Second Team All-Commonwealth honor, and she also teamed with junior Leah Rice to compile a 5-2 record in doubles.

McHugh and Dormer compiled a 6-1 record in doubles.

Field Hockey

Amy Zimmerman '98 returned to Susquehanna in 2003 as head coach, replacing Connie Harnum, whose tenure ran 27 years in Selinsgrove.

In her first season, Zimmerman led the Crusaders to a 10-8 mark as the team beat 17th ranked McDaniel 5-2 to close out their season. The Crusaders narrowly missed the Commonwealth Conference playoffs for the first time in five years, finishing 4-3 in conference play.

Senior Ashlee Kraft, in her first season as a regular starter, led the squad with seven goals, four assists and 18 points and fellow senior Jodi Dottery scored five of her goals in the last four games to help Susquehanna win its final games. Dottery finished her career with 57 points and 24 goals, both ranking in the top-10 in program history. Junior Katie McCarthy and Freshman Margaret Young also chipped in more than 10 points, as McCarthy notched 13 on six goals and an assist and Young added five goals and an assist and Young added five goals and two assists for 12 points.

Freshman goalkeeper Shannon Baker made a tremendous debut, allowing a paltry 1.28 goals per game and stopping 82 shots on the year. She was also named Commonwealth Conference Player of the week on Sept. 29, after she helped shutout Notre Dame (Md.) 5-0 and beating Elizabethtown 2-1, stopping 13 shots in the two wins.

Equestrian Team

Susquehanna University's Equestrian Team was founded during the 2002-2003 school year by four dedicated SU students: Stephanie Eden (senior - Pres. - Captain), Rebecca Mann (senior - VP - Co-Captain), Laura Lancieri (senior - Secretary), and Andrea Huntley (soph. - Treasurer). The team has grown ever since and now includes 15 riders, of which at least 10 ride competitively on the show team.

Fall of 2003 was the first competitive season in the Intercollegiate Horse Show Association for the new team, and Susquehanna fared well against the much larger equestrian teams like Buckness, Kutztown, Rutgers, Princeton, and Bloomsburg. Susquehanna ended their season in 7th place, despite the relatively small team of 4 to 7 riders. Many of Susquehanna's competitive riders are looking to qualify for Regionals and Zones during the Spring of 2004 show season.

S.U.E.T riders train at Fox View in Lewisburg, PA under Farra Phillips Hillyard. All riders on the team take at least one lesson per week and actively participate in other clubs activities and meetings.

Rugby Team

The SU Ruggers, both men and women, are some of the most competitive athletes at Tusquehanna. They play through illness and injury, all for the love of the game. The SU men finished with a record of 1-4 and the women's team finished undefeated. In the spring, the girls went on to compete in the East Coast Nationals in New England.

Basketball

The 2003-2004 season started out as expected.

The Crusaders were picked to finish first in the Commonwealth Conference preseason coaches' poll after winning the regular-season title with an 11-3 league mark in 2002-03.

The first two games were washouts, as senior Phil Sander earned the Pepsi Weis Markets Tip-Off Tournament MVP Award and Susquehanna picked up a quality 73-61 win against King's.

The team opened the Commonwealth Conference season by beating Elizabethtown for the first time in four seasons and senior Nick Griffiths hit a 3-pointer from three feet behind the arc with 1:55 left for his 1,000th career point.

The Crusaders rolled on to the University of Scranton's Radisson Invitational, where they blasted nationally-ranked Clark 87-75. Senior Chris Zimmerman was named the tournament MVP after his 11-point, eight-assist effort. Junior Bubba Mills and Griffiths also made the team.

Less than a week later, Susquehanna improved to 10-2 overall with a 79-63 win against nationally-ranked Catholic.

Then things started to unravel.

When conference play resumed after fall break, the Crusaders dropped seven of their final 12 games. In the process, they fell out of playoff contention for the first time in three years, finishing 15-9 overall and 7-7 in the league.

Zimmerman made the All-Conference Second Team, finishing with 1,003 career NCAA points (976 at Susquehanna and 27 his freshman year at Bucknell), leading the Crusaders with an average of 13.1 points per game and finishing second in the conference in assists at 4.7 per game.

Sander also made the All-Conference Second Team, as he led the Commonwealth Conference in field-goal percentage at 66.7 percent (116-for-174) and in blocked shots per game at 1.91 (42 in 22 games).

Seniors Dan Rathmell, who scored 892 points during his career as he served as a sixth man, Glenn Weinrich, who provided depth in the frontcourt for three years, and Rob Okonak, who worked as a backup point guard for three years, combined with Zimmerman, Griffiths and Sander to help Susquehanna to 47 wins and two playoff appearances in the last three seasons.

Basketball

In 2003-04, women's basketball couldn't hit the ground running. The team lost four seniors and six players off its roster from 2002-03, accounting for more than half the team's points.

Facing such adversity, the new-look Crusaders stepped into O.W. Houts Gymnasium on Nov. 22 to open their season at the Pepsi Weis Markets Tip-Off Tournament.

The team that featured two starting freshman guards and a starting transfer at forward, responded with an 83-49 win against Trinity (DC). Freshman Nicole Nasser scored a team-high 14 points in the rout, as she made the All-Tournament team along with junior Andrea Carlson.

Unfortunately, the growing pains hit soon afterwards, as the Crusaders came back from their Winter Trip to Nassau, Bahamas with a 3-5 record. After beating Richard Stockton in the first game of the Wilkes University Holiday Inn New Year's Tournament, the Crusaders dropped eight games in a row.

The team did gel late in the season, taking nationally-ranked Messiah to the wire before losing 70-61. In its next outing, Susquehanna shocked playoff-bound Widener 62-54, as freshman Jenn Evans scored 13 points, hitting 3-of-5 shots from behind-the-arc and freshman Jen Clark and junior Ang Leteavage each added 11 points.

In the next game, the Crusaders avenged a 66-56 Jan. 21 loss to Juniata, by taking down the Eagles 54-41. Junior Skyra Blanchard posted 11 points and eight rebounds in the win.

Evans lead the squad with 191 points for an average of 7.6 points per game. She hit 23 treys to pace the squad, which hit 96 on the season.

Leteavage averaged 6.7 points per game to finished second on the squad and also finished second in rebounding at 6.4 boards per contest. Blanchard led the teams off the glass, averaging 7.0 rebounds per game.

In all, Susquehanna finished 7-18 overall and tied for sixth place in the Commonwealth Conference with a 3-11 record under second-year head coach Liz Cramer Briggs.

The 2003-04 edition of the Susquehanna men's swim team set three school records as it finished fifth out of nine schools at the Middle Atlantic Conference Championships.

The 400-yard freestyle relay team of freshman Tim Robeson, sophomore Nick Hoover, senior Trevor Reeder and senior Jon Illuzzi finished in 3:21.07 to break the previous mark of 3:23.52 set in 1993. The Crusaders finished fifth in the event.

Illuzzi also broke a school-record in the 500-yard freestyle on the first day of the MACs, as he touched the wall in 5:04.39, breaking a mark set in 1995 by Mike Mauriello. Illuzzi finished 14th in the event.

Hoover also broke a school mark, finishing the 100-yard butterfly in 53.67 seconds, as he took second place in the event overall, the highest finish for a Crusader swimmer at the event.

Hoover also finished seventh in the 200-yard backstroke in 2:05.22, the second-best mark in the 26-year history of Susquehanna swimming.

The men finished the regular season 4-5 overall and 4-3 in the MAC, beating Elizabethtown, King's, Drew and Lebanon Valley in conference meets.

The women were led by sophomore Kelly Chamberlain, who finished seventh in the 200-yard backstroke with a time of 2:19.43 and 10th in the 100-yard backstroke, finishing in 1:04.24. She also took 10th in the 200-yard individual medley, finishing in 2:21.97.

Junior Jen Roth took 10th in the 100-yard butterfly with a time of 1:05.74 and the 200-yard butterfly in 2:26.21 as the Crusaders finished seventh in the field of 11 teams for the second year in a row.

During the regular season, the women finished 3-7 overall and 3-5 in Commonwealth Conference meets, beating both Drew and King's during a dual meet on Jan. 17.

INDOOR TRACK 2003-2004

Baseball

Forced to deal with a whirlwind of changes as the season began, the 2004 Susquehanna baseball team struggled to an 8-26 finish and a 3-18 Commonwealth Conference finish.

The season started promisingly, as first-year head coach Matt Karchner, a former pitcher for the Chicago White Sox and Cubs, led the team to a 4-3 record on Spring Break in Ft. Pierce, Fla.

The strong start did not last, though, as the Crusaders faltered during the league schedule, losing 12 games in a row before closing their season and league schedule with a 7-4 win against Juniata on May 1. The win over Juniata not only ended the conference-losing streak, but also a 10-game streak to Juniata and was junior Greg Dobson's first win in 12 decisions.

The Crusaders also almost pulled off a major upset of Division I champion Bucknell, as the Crusaders scored five runs in the ninth inning coming close to upsetting the regionally-ranked club.

For the second straight year, senior catcher Bob Haile led the team offensively, hitting .324, with a team-leading 34 hits, three home runs and 16 RBIs. Haile also became just the 14th man in school history to reach 100 hits, finishing his career with 107.

Matt Reichard finished with a .296 batting average and the team with six doubles. Sophomore Chris Mothershed hit .267, tying sophomore John Spatz with 16 runs scored. Spatz finished second in the conference with 13 steals. Senior Clay Nixon hit .259, but offered three home runs and 13 RBIs. Dobson finished 1-4 with a 4.45 ERA in 30.1 innings, while the duo of Eric Musser and Jon Martin offered a 3-7 record and 41 strikeouts and only 10 walks in 73.2 innings.

Softball

After Moravian College, then the top-ranked team in the nation, swept Susquehanna's softball team in a doubleheader on April 17, Susquehanna had a 3-6 conference record. A shot at the playoffs was slim. Under second-year head coach Kathy Kroupa, though, the Crusaders persevered, winning four of their final five conference games and six of their final eight to make the playoffs for the third time in the three seniors' careers. The team's late-season run boosted it to a 7-7 conference record, good for a second-place finish in the Commonwealth, but two losses in the Commonwealth Conference tournament ended Susquehanna's season at 18-13.

Junior Heather Litzbauer led the Crusaders from the mound, as she finished fifth in the conference with a 1.56 ERA, 81 and led the team with a 7-5 record. Sophomore Jess Nastelli complimented Litzbauer with a 6-5 mark and 58 strikeouts in 58.1 innings. Freshman Jess Savino tossed a no-hitter against Wheelock on April 11, as the team won 11-0 during its Spring break trip to Myrtle Beach, S.C. Savino struck out eight batters in the game. Five Crusaders batted over .300, as freshman right fielder Kristin Boccafola led the team with a .333 average and also added three doubles, two triples, 13 runs and 11 RBIs.

Senior attack Scott Hodgson and freshman goaltender Dan Kotch are at opposite ends of the career spectrum, but one thing tied them together in 2004. They both had career years for the men's lacrosse team, which finished 6-7 overall and 5-5 in league play. Hodgson broke Andy Nadler's '03 mark of 154 career points as he scored five points in the season finale against FDU-Florham, to finish with 156 points and a school best 123 goals.

During his final campaign, Hodgson notched 41 goals and 47 points, both career highs.

Kotch, the Middle Atlantic Conference Rookie of the Year, helped lift the Crusaders to a sixth-place finish in the MAC after the team finished eighth in 2003, as he made 206 saves and allowed just 137 goals against average.

Junior attack Dan St. Ours set a school record with 31 assists during the 2004 season. He also has 36 career goals for 112 career points, just 44 shy of another school record.

Junior midfielder Justin Mason also crossed the 100 point plateau in 2004, as he added 15 goals and 22 assists on the year. He has 108 career points, on the strength of 44 goals and 64 assists.

Senior midfielder Matt Miceli enjoyed a career year, as he notched 23 goals and added three assists, as he was a vital part of why the crusades started the season 4-0 in conference play. On defense, sophomore midfielder Bobby Costa led the team with 52 groundballs and senior midfielder Bill Heinzelman added 30.

Sophomore Chrissy Cartello had only 11 goals in her freshman campaign. She scored almost five times as many goals in 2004 on her way to being named a Second Team Middle Atlantic Conference All-Star. Scoring a school record 53 goals, helping to lead the Crusaders to a 6-10 record and a fifth place finish in the MAC with a 6-4 league mark. The highlight of Cartello's year came when she scored nine goals and added an assist in a 19-2 win against Wilkes on March 29, falling just one goal short from tying the school record.

After the team got off to a 4-3 start that also featured a 10-9 overtime loss to Widener, it dropped seven of the final nine games, missing the postseason for the second straight year.

Junior midfielder Kristen Reineke also earned MAC honors, being named to the First Team Middle Atlantic Conference All-Stars, and senior defenders Cindy Fox and Kristin Calabree were named to the Second Team All-Stars.

Reineke finished second on the squad in points with 33 and goals with 27. She also finished third in assists with seven.

Defensively, she led the team, picking up 49 ground balls and causing 57 turnovers. Her 3.57 caused turnovers per game, currently ranks seventh in Div III and second in the MAC. A three-year letter winner, Reineke also has 39 goals and 14 assists in her career.

Fox started 14 games for the Crusaders and along with Calabree keyed a defense that allowed less than 10 goals in six of 16 games. Fox was credited with 13 ground balls and 59 caused turnovers in her career.

Calabree started 15 games, scoring four goals and adding two assists for six points. She also helped key the defense, by causing 32 turnovers and picking up 35 ground balls. In her career, Calabree recorded seven goals, three assists, 122 ground balls, and 70 caused turnovers.

Also adding more than 20 points were freshman Kaitlyn McMinnis (23 goals, 4 assists, 27 points), senior Jess Robinson (19 goals, 8 assists, 27 points) and junior Melissa Heberlein (14 goals, a team high 12 assists, 26 points). In goal, junior Abby Goss, a converted position player last season, finished with a .463 save percentage and a 10-43 goals against average.

Under second-year head coach Rob Logan, the team finished 4-6 overall and 5-1 in the Commonwealth Conference, the team's second straight fifth-place finish. Sophomore Steve Kane, in his first season, finished 6-4 and junior Justin Rhoad finished 8-5 in singles play. Sophomore Ofir Tomer also had a strong debut season, finishing 4-5 overall.

The girls 8's and 4's developed over the spring season and earned a slot on the national top-ten

Chemistry

"I love the Chemistry department. The faculty and staff are so helpful and understanding. The Chemistry faculty are the reason that I chose Susquehanna. I have had nothing but positive experiences."

- Crystal Schneck, Freshman Chemistry Major

"I have enjoyed the interaction between professors and students. This aspect of the Chemistry department is often not present at larger schools. Also, I have been able to use high-quality equipment and work on interesting research."

- Mark Dreihelbis, Junior Chemistry Major

Currently, there are exciting things happening in the Geological and Environmental Sciences departments. They are making revisions to their curriculum that will go into effect in the Fall of 2004. These departments have state-of-the-art labs, field equipment, and enthusiastic faculty. They offer students a wealth of knowledge and opportunities.

Geology

Physics

"Susquehanna's physics department is an extremely accessible department. With a physics faculty ratio of about 4 to 1, personal attention is the rule, not the exception. Last year, students and staff collectively planned out a trip to New York to visit the particle accelerator at the Brookhaven National Laboratory. This year, a new professor, Dr. Jurcevic, has joined Dr. Grosse and Dr. Kozlowski turning the physics duet into a trio. The doors in physics land are always open for anyone who wishes to stop on by."

-Mike Lerch '06

"It is hard to imagine a field of study more interesting than life. Biology is complex beyond our present understanding yet this tangled complexity is being slowly unwound through major new advances in areas such as genetics, cell biology and ecology."

- David S. Richard, Ph.D.

The Biology Department has a strong and well known reputation here at Susquehanna University. In 1913, the first sciences were housed in Steele Hall. The biology department then moved to the third floor of Fisher Hall when the building was completed in 1964. Today, it occupies the second floor of the recently renovated and more spacious Fisher Hall.

Psychology

The Department of Psychology at Susquehanna University states that their mission is to prepare students for productive careers in psychology, education, business, the human services, and associated fields. They work to train students to find, comprehend, evaluate, and communicate scholarly information. They want to challenge students to apply personal values in response to the intellectual and societal problems addressed by psychology. At Susquehanna, students are taught to build the knowledge base of the discipline and apply psychological principles to practical issues.

"The psychology department is where your professors are your teachers, mentors and friends. It is where learning is never one dimensional. Working alongside professors in their research or designing your own experiments offer countless opportunities to excel, discover and not be limited by the four walls of a classroom." - Teresa Kotlicka, '06

"As a senior math and computer science double major, I've had lots of opportunities to interact with the professors and students in the mathematical sciences department. Most professors' doors are always open and students often work closely with one another on problem sets and when studying for exams. I spent the summer of 2002 doing mathematics research with Dr. Miller and I participated in the math club last spring helping with activities such as Pi Day when we sold pies on March 14th in honor of the constant $\pi = 3.14$."

Political Science

The political science department is like a second home to many of the students enrolled in its courses. It is rare to walk by the office and not see students gathered around the table and the candy dish. The professors are always available for one-on-one help and the courses bring a variety of topics to the student's attention.

Dr. Blessing enjoys teaching his European Union class. Each fall he gets to take the class to Washington, D.C. where a mock European Union session takes place with other colleges and universities. Students also like the abundant amount of candy in the political science office that is there for the students every day.

Susquehanna University's sociology and anthropology department faculty brings years of experience to the classroom and offers students unmatched learning opportunities.

Dr. Simona Hill, Associate Professor of Sociology, was this year's recipient of the University's Teaching Award. Dr. Hill was also named co-director of the University Honors Program on July 31st 2003. In addition to her new position and award, Dr. Hill headed up this year's Mid-Atlantic Women's Studies Association's annual conference along with Dr. Karen Bojar. This year's conference was entitled, "Rural Women: Maintaining Activism, Cultivating New Experiences, Advancing Scholarship."

Sociology & Anthropology

English

The English and creative writing department has had a very busy year. Besides their normal array of courses, professors have been busy publishing books this year. Gary Fincke, the head of the Writing Institute, published three books this year, entitled, "Writing Letters for the Blind", "The Stone Collage", and "Kicking Ass". Dr. Lawrence Roth published his book of literary criticisms, "Inspecting Jews: American Jewish Detective Stories". Also, Dr. Tom Bailey published a collection of short stories entitled, "Crowman" and his novel, "The Grace That Keeps This World" is set to be published in the fall of 2004.

At the August 2003 Annual Meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and Portuguese (AATSP), Susquehanna University's Department of Modern Languages received the annual "Engaged Department Award". The Executive Director of the AATSP, Dr. Carol Klein, said that the material submitted by Susquehanna was "exemplary" and demonstrated that the Department of Modern Languages achieved this honor "through hard work and constant collaboration both within and outside the university campus and community."

Modern Languages

Communications & Theatre Arts

Susquehanna's communications and theatre arts department provides many opportunities for students to get involved in hands-on applications of their field of study. Among these opportunities is a chance to dj your own show on the campus' radio station WQSU.

WQSU has seen several eclectic radio shows this past year. One of them is called, "The Spin Cycle", created by Jason Jewitt and features two conservatives and two liberals discussing political issues. "The VENT Radio Show" features Julie Grebenau and consists of music and musicians just from Pennsylvania. Finally, the short lived talk radio show entitled, "The Big Dumb Radio Show" hosted by Nile Abdel-Salam and Chris Sciler generated a lot of interest on campus when it was on the air. "Chris and I set out to create a new show that would shake the waves of campus," says Abdel-Salam. "Judging by our extensive fan base, I say we succeeded."

The history department is devoted to providing Susquehanna students with a rich background in a variety of historical topics. Courses offered range from the Holocaust to African Civilizations.

This year the history department's Linda McMillin got some big news. After Dr. Warren G. Funk resigned from his position of provost this past year, the position was up for grabs and had many interested candidates. The candidates underwent interviews with President Lemons, faculty, student and staff committees until it was decided that Linda McMillin, a professor of history at Susquehanna since 1989, would be given the new position. As the new provost, McMillin's duties will include reporting to President Lemons and becoming a member of his senior staff, as well as being director of all programs dealing with the academic staff.

History

Philosophy & Religion

The philosophy, religion and classical studies department has welcomed two new professors this year, Thomas M. Martin in religion and Coleen P. Zoller in philosophy. The department also sponsored the annual Alice Pope Shade lecture which brought the eminent theologian and professor, Martin Marty, to campus. Finally, a number of students went on the annual SU CASA service learning trip, a two week course and mission trip lead by SU Chaplain Mark Radecke.

Educations majors are preparing to teach the world's youth. Course work and student teaching experience prepares these young educators for real work environments.

It seems that Pennsylvania's need for experienced teachers is growing and Susquehanna education students are answering the call. Ms. Peggy Holdren says that the market for teachers is opening all over Pennsylvania and that school districts are calling SU for teaching assistants. SU students are being taught new courses that implement the new "No Child Left Behind" law, making them invaluable in the growing education field.

Education

Art

The art department offers students an outlet to express their creativity and learn more about the arts. A popular art course this year was Computer Applications in Graphic Design. Students taking this course spend anywhere from four to thirty hours a week in the Heilman computer lab working in their Adobe Illustrator objects and self portraits. They also learned how to manipulate photographs in Adobe Photoshop. Trips to New York and Washington D.C. allowed art students to glimpse magnificent works of art.

Management is the core of the Sigmund Weis School of Business. Students learn about all areas of business like Marketing, Advertising, Finance, and Entrepreneurship. There are four majors that can be obtained through the management department: Marketing, Finance, Human Resource Management, and Global Management.

Management

Economics

Within the economics department students learn microeconomics and macroeconomics. Microeconomics deals with parts of the economy like businesses, industries, and workers. Macroeconomics deals with inflation, unemployment, and economic growth. Students also learn about national as well as international markets, gaining knowledge and experience that they can apply upon graduation.

Accounting majors have their work cut out for them. The faculty in the department works hard to prepare these students for their future careers. During the Spring, accounting majors enjoyed taking a trip to Quantico, VA in order to see the FBI Training Academy. SU graduate, Rob Ambrosini, gave the students a private tour. Ambrosini worked on the Enron case, which his work ended up with several arrests. The trip was very valuable to accounting majors.

Sophomores

Sophomore year is a time to enjoy. You are no longer freshmen. You still meet new people, yet you know many. You are still experiencing new things, yet you know what to expect.

Many people declare their major sophomore year. If you are thinking about going abroad now is the time to start planning.

Sophomore year is a very relaxed year. You still have plenty of work, but you don't have the insecurities of freshmen year or the stress of junior and senior year; looking for internships and jobs.

At the end of sophomore year college is half over! Enjoy every moment because time flies.

Juniors

Junior year is an exciting time, but you start to realize that you have passed the halfway mark.

"I can't believe I am a junior, I feel like it was yesterday I was moving into Smith," said Becki Gerhart

It is also a fun year because everyone starts turning 21. Most people have moved off campus into a house or an apartment. Students also go abroad and start putting their resume together for internships.

By this time you have settled into college life. You are making memories with friends and enjoying the time you have left.

Senior Week

Senior week is a time for members of the senior class to reminisce and celebrate their accomplishments. This year's senior week included a bar crawl, a trip to the Yeungling Brewery, a formal at Peppermint Lounge, a trip to Atlantic City, and a walk with President Lemmons. Other activities included tubing, camping, and barbecues. These activities gave seniors the chance to celebrate one last time before taking a step into the "real" world. This year's week was definitely a time to remember.

Week Schedule

- Monday-Bar Crawl
- Tuesday-Yeungling Brewery Tour
- Wednesday-Peppermint Lounge Formal
- Thursday-Atlantic City
- Friday-Walk with the President
- Saturday-Graduation practice
- Sunday-Baccalaureate and Graduation

Baccalaureate Service

Graduation

On May 16, 2004 graduates processed onto Lopardo Stadium field for the first time to celebrate their commencement. The sun was shining and parents were beaming as they watched their sons and daughters prepare to accept their degrees. Four years of hard work and dedication led students to this day and many more years of success await them.

The ceremony began as Chaplin Radecke delivered the invocation. The commencement address was given by Donna Shirley, an aerospace engineer who has worked with NASA in the Mars Exploration Program. She advised the students to live their lives with passion.

In her first year as provost, Linda McMillin announced the graduates names and honors as they received their diplomas from President Lemons.

Following the ceremony a reception was held on Degenstein lawn where students and families got a chance to congratulate each other and say their goodbyes.

In all the 2004 graduation was a success. Susquehanna's graduating class enters the world with a great education and memories.

Class
2004

The year has come to an end. It is time to move on. Our times at Susquehanna were short lived but long lasting. The memories that we made here will be forever cherished. Seniors, we wish you luck in the coming years and hope that you find success in all you do.

"Learn from yesterday, live for today, hope for tomorrow."

Marcela Bequillard

Dear Marcela,

Two parents prouder than us will be hard to find. We have enjoyed your journey through Susquehanna University. You cried when we said goodbye the day we took you to school on the first day of your freshman year, but you quickly made great friends and turned SU into a second home. You adjusted beautifully to college life and looked happy and radiant whenever you came back home or we visited you at school.

Through four falls, winters and springs, SU taught you not only about academics but also about people and life. Even the cafeteria food was a learning experience. You taught us about Communications as you learned your major, enriching our lives with yours. Now you have a profession and we are again celebrating our pride for you.

But to us you still are that adorable baby that smeared strawberries all over her face at the strawberry field. You are still the toddler that loved to toss all the laundry on the floor, and the little girl that took a bite off the Muenster cheese just before dinner and put it right back in the refrigerator, teeth marks and all, convinced that she had perpetrated the perfect crime.

We love you Marcelita, and look forward to your next stage in life, which you no doubt will share with us like you always have.

Your parents, Olga & Alfredo

Chrissy Bell

PROMISE YOURSELF

Chrissy, promise yourself to be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind. To talk health, happiness, and prosperity to every person you meet. To make all your friends feel that there is something in them. To look at the sunny side of everything and make your optimism come true. To think only of the best, to work only for the best, and expect only the best. To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own. To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future. To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile. To be too large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear, and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

We all love you and are proud of your accomplishments at SU.

*Love,
Dad, Bob, Rich,
and the rest of the family...*
